RIPPLED B-36 WITH CREW OF 6 IS MISSING

x-Engine Plane En Route From Alaska to Fort Worth Believed "Ditched"

CONTACT IS BROKEN

BULLETIN

Seattle, Feb. 14.—(P)—An authoritative source whose identity cannot be divulged said today that a B-36 bomber has been ditched in Queen Charlotte Sound with 16 men aboard, 400 miles northwest of here. The informant said there is no doubt that the plane "ditched" in the icy waters of the British Columbia coast after encountering severe icing conditions and fire in one engine while on a trip from Eielson Air Force Base, near Fairbanks, Alaska. Officials at McChord Air Force base have refused to discuss the matter and a veil of secrecy has been wrapped around the matter.

Seattle, Feb. 14.—(P)—A crippled B-36 bomber reported early today it was in trouble and might ditch in the Queen Charlotte Sound area off Vancouver Island. C. The six engine plane carried 16 men.

Mackay Radio said it picked up message at 2:54 a. m. (PST) in which the plane, en route from Eielson Air Force Base, Alaska, to Maxwell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, said:

"One engine on fire, contemplating ditching in Queen Charlotte Sound between Queen Charlotte Island and Vancouver Island. Keep a careful lookout for flames wreckage."

At Fort Worth, Eighth Air Force headquarters said it received the same report at 4:50 a. m. (PST). The plane's third distress message said:

"At 17,000 feet in severe icing, instrument and engine trouble, severe emergency. Going to let own through overcast to lose ice."

The last message gave the plane's position as roughly 300 miles northwest of Seattle. Contact with the plane was lost after a third message.

A Seattle radio amateur report he had listened to a radio report from the Royal Canadian Air Force that it had sighted an unidentified light in Queen Charlotte Sound and was sending planes to investigate.

The state patrol office in Seattle said it had been informed a B-36 had taken off from McChord Field and was in the search but icing conditions forced it to turn back. The Coast Guard at Port Angeles, about 300 miles southeast of the (Turn to Page Three)

Officials Hopeful Bargaining Sessions Starting Wednesday May Produce Coal Contract

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—The United Mine Workers Union said today it has sent messages to all the union's 3,000 local units telling them to return to work. Telegrams to all locals went out yesterday, a union spokesman said. They duplicated the back-to-work instructions wired to union district offices Saturday by John L. Lewis, UMW chief. Even these messages to the locals, however, seemed to have little effect on getting the idle miners back into the pits. They continued their full-fledged walkout today—despite hopes of government officials they might start drifting back to work. The White House said no further action on its part is contemplated at this time.

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—Government officials looked hopeful today on newly-arranged bargaining sessions between John L. Lewis and soft coal operators. They felt there is a chance, at least, that the talks starting Wednesday can produce a new coal contract and prevent further wrangling in the courts.

Lewis, having sent his miners official word to get back to work as he was directed to do by a federal court judge, was simply sitting back and watching how things worked out.

But the miners stayed idle for the second day in a row despite the back-to-work order obtained under the Taft-Hartley law and despite Lewis' message that he had been given no choice but to direct them to return to the pits.

Lewis and southern operators, as well as Lewis and northern and western operators, have agreed to resume bargaining here Wednesday morning.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(P)—Mine whistles shrilled in vain again today as striking soft coal miners for the second day defied work orders from both the government and John L. Lewis.

The no contract no work walkout continued full force in all major coal producing states. Hundreds of pickets roamed Pennsylvania highways to make sure all pits are closed.

DEWEY TO PROPOSE RATIONING IN N. Y.
New York, Feb. 14.—(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said today he would ask the state legislature for emergency powers to ration coal because the state had only a 10-day supply left. The chief executive added that he would make the request in a special message to the legislature today.

He said he had spent much of the morning dictating the message to the state capitol in Albany from his suite in the Roosevelt Hotel.

Pennsylvania State Police reported two men wounded by buckshot in the Latrobe area. It was not determined if they are miners or pickets.

Police are trying to learn if the shooting is connected with the posting of armed guards at a nearby non-union strip mine. A truck was dynamited at that pit last week.

Dilworth Makes Formal 'Debut' As Dem Nominee For Governor

Philadelphia, Feb. 14.—(P)—Richardson Dilworth, Philadelphia city treasurer, made his formal "debut" last night in his announced drive to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

Dilworth was among the guests of honor at a $25-a-plate dinner attended by 2,500 Democratic leaders from 16 eastern Pennsylvania counties.

The dinner—which a spokesman said would "net about $50,000"—for the party treasury—served to celebrate both Lincoln's birthday and the Democratic victory in Philadelphia's municipal election last fall.

Dilworth won the post of city treasurer in an upset that gained for him statewide political notice.

Other guests included U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers, who is seeking re-election. Federal District Judge Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, another gubernatorial hopeful, was observed mingling with party leaders before the dinner.

In addressing the dinner audience, Dilworth lashed out at the Republican party, adding that "the most reactionary machine in the country is fighting for its life" in Pennsylvania.

Myers said the recent Republican declaration of principles for a welfare state would serve to destroy the American way of life.

Democratic State Chairman Maurice Spahn told reporters at the dinner that the party's policy committee will meet at Harrisburg Feb. 21 to select statewide candidates for the May 16 primary.

The 13-member committee, Spahn said, will choose candidates for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of internal affairs, and justice of the state supreme court.

Myers has already been given the state committee's endorsement for renomination.

ASSASSINATION PLOT IN GERMAN REPUBLIC

Bonn, Germany, Feb. 14.—(P)—A plot to murder President Theodor Heuss of the west German republic has been broken up by Hannover police, the ministry of interior announced today.

One man was arrested. An interior ministry official said he did not believe there was a political motive involved in the attempt.

The official said that so far as is known, the arrested man had no accomplices, and added that the man is undergoing mental examination. He said the man has been in custody for some time.

The ministry official refused any other details. (Turn to Page Three)

CURBSOUGHT ON ABUSES IN G. I. TRAINING

Big Question in Minds of Lawmakers Is How Far Congress Should Go in Checking Rights

PRODDED BY TRUMAN

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—House members looked today for ways to curb abuses in the GI vocational training program without depriving veterans of the chance to gain useful training.

But the big question in the minds of lawmakers was how far congress should go in check-reining the educational rights guaranteed veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (the GI bill).

Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) summed it up this way: "The basic question is simply this: Is the GI bill a readjustment act or a bonus act?"

Rep. Teague (D-Texas), like Wheeler a member of the house veterans committee, said he was concerned that congress would go too far.

"We're afraid of it is that the Veterans Administration will put back into effect regulations it once had and which endangered entitlement of veterans to their four educational opportunities guaranteed by law," he told a reporter.

Prodged yesterday by President Truman to tighten up the law on "blind alley" vocational training, the house is expected to consider some form of curbs within a week or two.

Differences of opinion over their extent, however, were likely to start a hot dispute.

Wheeler said he has already prepared proposals for making restrictions more stringent, and added that if debate shows a need for further study he would vote to send the entire matter back to committee.

Wheeler said he would offer his proposals as a substitute for the senate-passed Taft bill when it comes to the house floor.

The Taft bill—among other things—would in effect prohibit the Veterans Administration from issuing regulations which might deny veterans the right to select a course of study at any approved institution.

This bill, tightened up somewhat by the house veterans committee, has been cleared by the rules committee for house consideration.

President Truman yesterday sent to congress a report by Frank Pace, director of the budget, and Carl Gray, VA administrator listing abuses by trade schools springing up since enactment of the GI bill in 1944.

The report said the "startling growth" in these schools has forced an increase in estimates of the cost of the GI program, from $1,993,000,000 in January 1949, to a present figure of $2,754,000,000.

HAS EAD MONEY
Erie, Feb. 14.—(P)—Stephen Calafato, 23, was released on $5,000 bond today on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit bills. U. S. Treasury Agents said three $10 bills were found on Calafato when he was arrested. They said three other unidentified men, believed to be linked with the Erie man, were nabbed in Buffalo, N. Y. Calafato, they said, denied he was aware the bills were not genuine.

SEN. MARTIN RAPS SPENDING PROGRAM
Pontiac, Mich., Feb. 14.—(P)—"Spend, spend, spend—that is the order of the day in President Truman's program for the nation," declared Senator Martin (R-Mich.).

Martin told the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club last night that President Truman has given the nation "a dangerous, dishonest and immoral program."

"It is stealing and squandering the savings of the people," he said "and most important, it must result in national bankruptcy and the slavery of the socialist state."

Martin added that President Truman has predicted an income of $12,000 a year for the average wage earner 50 years from now. The Pennsylvania senator predicted that dollars in this "dream world" would be worth only 18 cents.

Hydrogen Bomb Looks Like An Issue In the British Election

London, Feb. 14.—(P)—Conservative Chief Winston Churchill told British voters today their choice in the Feb. 23 elections is between registration and freedom.

Churchill gave this message to conservative clubs throughout Britain as he headed for Scotland to stump for his Tory party. At the same time his Laborite opponent, Prime Minister Attlee, told a news conference in industrial Newcastle he was satisfied the labor government would be returned to office. Churchill's message said the coming election would be "the most vital in our history."

London, Feb. 14.—(P)—The hydrogen bomb began today to loom as an issue in the British political campaign, which has brought out a record 1,866 candidates for parliament.

Speakers for both Prime Minister Clement Attlee's labor government and Winston Churchill's Conservative opposition have called for a new attempt at international agreement to head off the use of the fearful atomic weapon.

With the election only nine days off, the bomb still is not in the issue category. But if it should become so, debate probably would boil up over which party could do more to get the United States and Russia to agree—the Laborites or the Tories.

Neither Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin nor Tory Leader Churchill, both of them outspoken critics of the Soviet Union, have yet mentioned the bomb.

Both are speaking today. Bevin (Turn to Page Three)

Flood Threats Are Raised Again In Lower Mississippi

By The Associated Press

Rain splashed over the middle and lower Mississippi Valley today, raising the threat of new floods in the area already hard hit by overflows this winter.

Heavy rainfalls were reported by the U. S. Weather Bureau in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. More rain also fell in some parts of Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

The Mississippi and Ohio rivers, the two biggest streams which have been the cause of most concern, as well as smaller streams were reported rising in many areas. A new evacuation was started by some 3,000 persons from the new Madrid floodway below Charleston, in southeast Missouri.

The rain belt extended from Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois eastward to the Atlantic coast.

Ice storms and snow dealt damaging blows to wide areas over the mid-west and in southern New York and northern Pennsylvania.

Power and telephone service in hundreds of midwest communities was disrupted. Highway travel was slowed by the glazed conditions.

Temperatures, generally, over the country were not severe.

Meanwhile, the series of small tornadoes that skipped across four states over the weekend killing 47 persons, caused property damage of more than $1,000,000. The twisters hit 20 small communities in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee.

The latest at Hurricane Hill, Tenn., yesterday, killed nine persons, including a family of eight.

Mine Union Chief Wants Suit Dropped

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis has asked a federal court to dismiss a suit in which a former miner asks an accounting of how Lewis and other trustees have administered the union's welfare fund.

Attorneys for Lewis told District Judge Burnita Matthews yesterday the suit was a "sham."

It was brought last September by George Livengood of Smithfield, Pa., against Lewis and the two other trustees, Ezra Van Horn and Sen. Bridges (R-NH). Van Horn has since resigned from the trusteeship.

Livengood, former secretary-treasurer of the UMW Local 6308 at Smithfield, asked an accounting of how the trustees spent $150,000,000 in three years.

He was expelled from the union after he began the court action. He had been on the disability rolls at $90 a month, but was cut off about the time that all payments were suspended by the three trustees.

Lewis' counsel, W. L. P. Burke, said Livengood was taken off the benefit lists after it was learned that he had been receiving $30 a month in unemployment compensation from the state of Pennsylvania.

In the suit Livengood offered 10 cases to back up his charges that the trustees had dissipated the welfare fund, raised through a 20 cents royalty on each ton of coal mined.

To this Burke answered that cross examination of Livengood showed agreement that seven of the cases were legitimate and that Livengood himself, as financial officer of his local, had okayed two of the remaining three cases.

COURT RULES AGAINST NEW QUAKER CITY TAX

Philadelphia, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Pennsylvania supreme court today held that Philadelphia's new tax on income from investments and corporations is illegal.

The state's highest tribunal, taking original jurisdiction in the case, said the tax is "too vague and uncertain" to be enforced. The opinion was unanimous.

The tribunal's action, however, does not affect the boost from one to one-quarter per cent in wage taxes.

POLICE CHANGES
Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(P)—Detective Lieutenant Adam Geisler takes over today as inspector of the city detective bureau. Public Safety Director George E. A. Fairley said he will name Geisler to succeed Fred Goode, who has been named a police inspector. Goode fills the vacancy created by the death last Friday of Thomas J. Kirlow.

CIO PROPOSES WIDE CHANGES IN TAX PLAN

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—The CIO said today President Truman's tax program does not go far enough. It proposed a plan for wide excise slashes and shifting of "present tax burdens from low-income individuals to the wealthy and to high-profit corporations."

While agreeing with large parts of the president's program the labor organization recommended to congress that it also consider in the new tax bill:

Individuals—Steps now to raise the personal individual income tax exemptions that would reduce the taxes of low income families. The idea is to look forward to the establishment of levels of exemption which permit the maintenance of a minimum standard of living for a family of four." Mr. Truman recommended no change in individual income taxes.

Excess profits—Reenactment of the excess profits tax on corporations, "in order to equalize the burden and the incidence of our present tax structure." Such a tax was levied in wartime but was repealed shortly after. The president did not propose such a tax.

Undistributed profits—A new levy on the undistributed profits of corporations, instead of an increase from 38 per cent to 42 per cent in the corporation income tax rate as Mr. Truman proposed. The CIO suggested a top corporation tax of 55 per cent, which would be graduated downward in reverse proportion to the percentage of its earnings a corporation pays out in dividends. This in effect would tax the undistributed profits.

Stanley Rutenber, CIO director of research and education, presented the statement to the house ways and means committee.

V. F. W. Has Option On Exchange Hotel

A general membership meeting of the Dinsmoor-Schwartz Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been called by the VFW Home Association directors, for Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Post rooms for the purpose of considering and deciding on a proposal for the purchase of the Exchange Hotel property, according to one of the officials of the organization.

The association directors have an option on the property, and the meeting Thursday evening has been called mainly to have a general discussion from members of the Post before a decision is made.

A gradual increase in membership and activities, it is understood, has taxed the capacity of the present quarters for some time. The officials have also been confronted with a problem of needed repairs to certain portions of the structure which would entail a considerable expense.

DROPS ACCIDENT PROBE
Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(P)—Police have dropped their investigation of the railroad accident which crippled Radio Announcer, Cleda Jones. Miss Jones, 30, lost her right foot when she was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad train a week ago near the East Liberty station. Police Inspector Lawrence J. Maloney said he is satisfied Miss Jones' injury was accidental. Her condition is still critical at Pittsburgh hospital.

Warren Co. Circulating Library First Organized 100 Years Ago

County-wide library service is not a new idea in Warren county. Superintendent H. L. Blair's pamphlet on Warren county school history records a county library in 1849, over 30 years before Thomas Struthers' gift established a public library for Warren borough.

"The Warren County Circulating Library was organized in 1849 by A. Margach on individual subscription of one dollar per share. The library contained about 800 books, from one to three copies of each book. The books in the library were comprised of different kinds of historical, biographical, fiction and miscellaneous reading of Harper's publications. Five distributing places were established in Warren, Sugar Grove, Youngsville, Columbus, and Wrightsville. Books were changed from one place to another when necessary."

At intervals through the years there have been repeated efforts to secure a much needed county-wide service. One high point was reached about five years ago when definite plans were drafted, with several alternate proposals for this region. Many of these suggestions are now receiving consideration.

The Grange is one organization which has a history of library interest, in state and county. The Pomona Grange of Warren county, at its last quarterly meeting the first week in February, went on record, with a resolution to be published, to give the proposed county library plan its endorsement and full support.

Mrs. Gerry Archibald reminded the Pomona Grange in her talk that Howard Flaman, who has been master of both the Erie county and state Grange, operated a Bookmobile in 1922 on the first promotional tour in Pennsylvania. This was a feature of the Grange's drive which contributed so valuably to the subsequent state legislation on county library service.

Warren County Council PTA representatives who visited Erie county this month saw the results of the combined efforts of the PTA Council, the Grange, the county school superintendent's office, and other organizations in the recent establishment of the Erie County Library, the first in this section of Pennsylvania. They examined the new Bookmobile and visited the headquarters at Fairview. Miss Marian Kelly, the new county librarian, told them she had never met with such a response in her entire library experience as she had found in her Erie county school stops. Mr. Merchon, assistant county superintendent of the Erie county schools office, where the drive received such a fine impetus, was especially helpful to the Warren committee.

Visit to the State Library Extension Division at Harrisburg have also been made. At the request of county organizations and officials, Mrs. Gerry Archibald, County Council PTA president, made arrangements for the visit of the State Library's field worker, Miss Charlotte Fleck. (Turn to Page Three)

List of Applicants For Borough Manager Narrows Down To Two

Warren borough councilmen, meeting in an adjourned session in the Municipal building last night, heard a report by Committee Chairman T. K. Creal II, that the list of applicants for the position of borough manager in Warren has been narrowed to two. A final decision, he said, is expected to be reached by the March meeting of the solons.

The solons also awarded contracts for furnishing electrical equipment needed to modernize the borough's traffic light system to the C. Beckley and Schaeffer's Electric Co., both of Warren. Both firms had submitted identical bids for the long list of needed supplies.

The bids were opened at the regular solons' meeting a week ago, but were tabled until last night to give the committee an opportunity to study them.

Included in the bids are supplies for two new traffic lights to be installed at the intersection of Fifth avenue and Market street, and Fifth and Conewango avenues. Council will advertise in the near future for bids to install the equipment.

Council President W. E. Rice reminded the solons that the first regular meeting of the newly-formed Tri-County Boroughs Association will be held in Smethport on Thursday, Feb. 23.

SOCIETY

Sasbah Party Is Deemed Successful by Its Sponsors

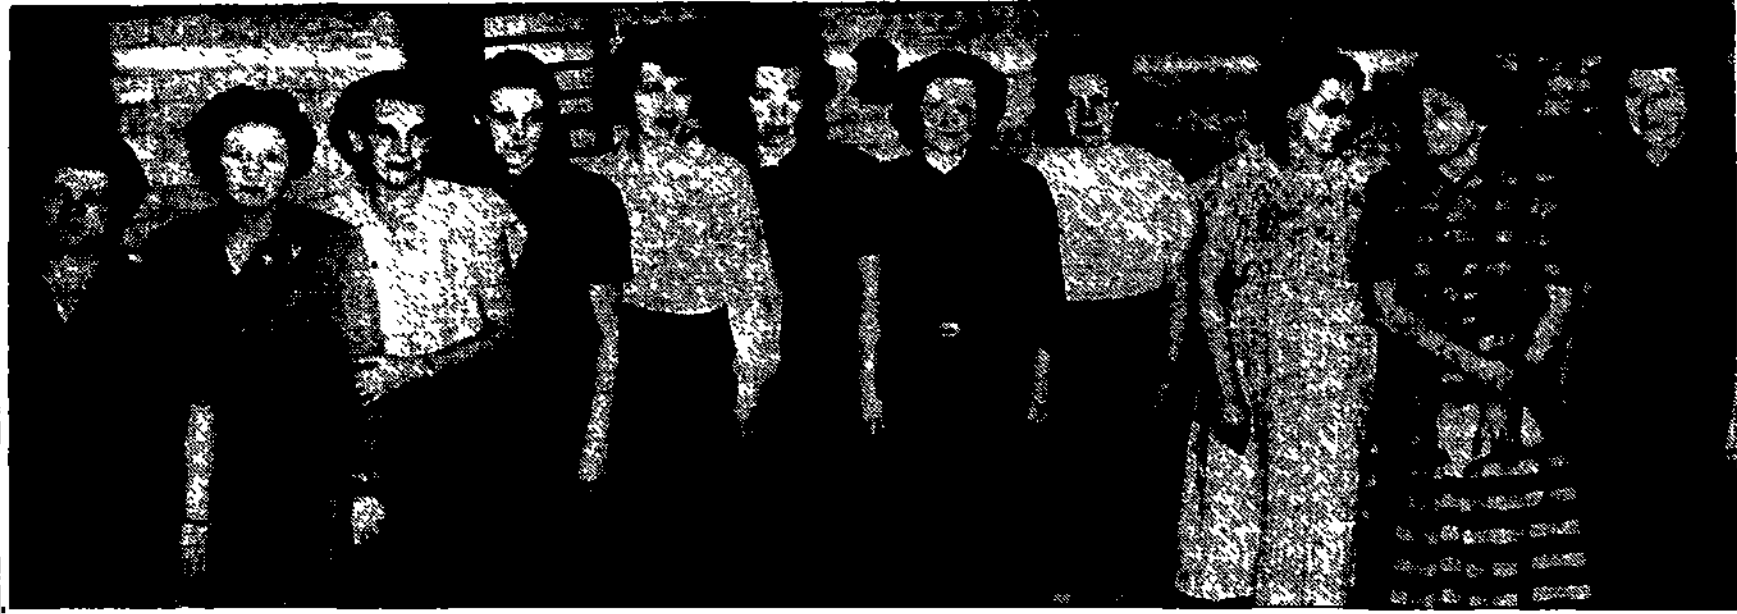

The YWCA was a spot of gay splendor and mellow music Saturday evening when the GTC introduced a new idea in the way of social entertainment. The dance, titled "Come With Me To The GTC Sasbah," was a complete success as far as those in attendance were concerned, but for club members was a sad affair.

The YW was attractively decorated in maroon and gray, the club walls were bedecked with clever posters bearing French letters. Doors at the north end of the gym were folded back and parlors were attractively arranged. On the stage were numerous tables, each having its own table mounted in an empty bottle where guests were being served constantly by club members dressed as French waiters. The dance was located at the south end of the gym.

The dance prize, awarded to the 100th person to enter the door, went to Jack Nicholson. He was in the form of a plastic with a tricky maroon and grey. Jim Rock, a former member of the club, made the presentation.

Many persons commented favorably on the music, some of the best bands heard in Warren in a long time.

The only sore spot in the entire arrangement was the fact that the dance dropped over $100 on the ice. Only about 130 persons showed out for what was really a dance and expenses far exceeded what was taken in at the door. On the whole, however, the air is looked upon as a success and the club's only regret is that the persons did not avail themselves of the opportunity of enjoying a really fine party.

Officials Hopeful Bargaining Sessions Starting Wednesday Produce Contract

Association said some idle miners in the United Mine Workers District 17 stated they have not received "any orders to return to work."

Association Secretary Jesse V. Sullivan said the men "are not revolting but are awaiting instructions from their union leaders to return to work."

The coal strike situation is unchanged in Ohio, Virginia, Illinois, Alabama and West Virginia among the larger producing states.

The strikers did not seem much concerned with President Truman's Taft-Hartley court action aimed at ending the strike. Nor with Lewis's court orders.

The question now is what Uncle Sam will do about enforcing his stop-strike command.

The government is standing by with a wait-and-see attitude.

Federal officials apparently hope that court-ordered contract negotiations, resuming tomorrow in Washington, will hasten the strike's end.

Lewis and mine operators will meet amid field reports that the UMW chief may substitute some new demands for those ruled out by a federal district court in Washington.

The court said Lewis could not: 1. Seek a clause allowing miners to work only when "willing and able"; 2. Demand a union shop without a National Labor Relations Board election; 3. Try to limit welfare fund benefits to union members; 4. Call "memorial" work stoppages.

Some industry sources think Lewis now may raise his wage demands 50 cents to make the job active $15.50 a day. They would not be surprised if he asked 40 cents a ton in operator royalty payments into the UMW Welfare Fund.

Foremen's Club Ladies' Night Is Largely Attended

An hour-long magic show presented by Tom Rea, Oil City entertainer, highlighted the annual Ladies Night program of the Warren Foreman's Club in the YMCA last night. A large crowd was on hand to enjoy the turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Rea was introduced by club president Harry Cooper, and at least a dozen members of the club and their wives were called on to assist the magician in his skillful "now you see it, now you don't" tricks.

The meeting room was attractively decorated in a St. Valentine's Day theme, centerpiece consisting of dolls proutrusting atop a gaily-decorated Valentine Box. Boxes of candy were distributed to the women as favors.

Members of the decorating committee were Carl Jones, Melvin Karlson, Dan Walton, John Minor, Merritt Rohlin, Delos Henry, Wendell Lawson, Archie Black, Bill Erickson, and Harry Cooper.

Chuck Tranter, WNAE newscaster spoke briefly urging members to support the big Magic Show which will be held in the Woman's Club on Saturday, March 11. Proceeds will be used to help complete a Youth Canteen in the old miniature golf building at the rear of the YMCA.

Company's system, is down, and that Penlee crews are aiding West Penn in restoring service.

R. E. Coker, Bell Telephone Company manager here, reported the Warren area was relatively free of storm trouble, but that the Kane section was not. He said 200 telephones were out of service and 80 lines, mostly rural, were down in the Kane, East Kane, and Lamont area, and that 10 toll lines east of Kane also were out of service. In Mt. Jewett, he added, 25 phones and 14 lines were knocked out.

Rain provided the chief topic of conversation in the Warren area. A fall of 1.23 inches during the last 24 hours brought a sharp rise in the Allegheny river and Coneyango creek. Weather Observer Merrell Jordan said the river showed a two foot one inch rise overnight and is still rising. No immediate flood danger is foreseen, however.

Reports from Youngsville indicate that Brokenstraw Creek is at its highest level in two years and is still rising.

The State Library has been without a field worker for some time. So it is a tribute to the quality of the Warren county effort, that this county was placed first on Miss Fleck's schedule of many requests for visits in the state. Miss Fleck herself comes highly recommended as former head of the Huntington County Library and now Assistant to Ellsworth Brininger, head of the Extension Division.

County and community organizations, schools, officials and interested individuals have been wonderfully helpful in their response since the first gift toward a Bookmobile for Warren county was presented in January. Their practical suggestions have helped the County Council PTA considerably, acting as practical suggestions have helped the County Council PTA considerably, acting as it has a clearing house for information and ideas.

The meetings arranged in connection with Miss Fleck's visit will give more people an opportunity to secure information and share ideas. The county citizens' meeting on library service will be held at eight o'clock Thursday evening in the small courtroom of the Warren county courthouse. The County Council PTA meeting is scheduled for two o'clock on Thursday in the Warren county Dairy rooms. Meetings with the county commissioners and the County Board of School Directors will be held Friday.

Arrangements For 'Parade of Magic' Near Completion

William Rice, president of Warren Borough Council, will act as master of ceremonies for the "Parade of Magic" at the Woman's Club, Saturday evening, March 11th. Mr. Rice is well known throughout the community for his ability as toastmaster and MC at social dinners and entertainments and his appearance is certain to add to the evening's enjoyment.

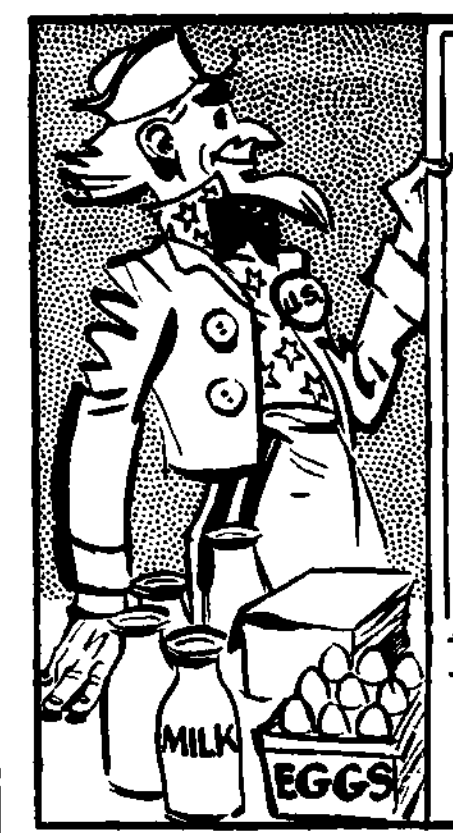

The "Parade of Magic" will be the climax to the community youth campaign which got underway yesterday in Warren. The proceeds will be used to build a floor in the YMCA annex which will then be used for a community youth canteen.

Working on the campaign committee are representatives of the Jaycees, the YMCA, and the Phalanx Club. It is pointed out that the canteen will be open to all boys and girls for supervised activities once the floor is put in.

Admission to the March 11th "Parade of Magic" is by donation and about 100 young people and adults are working on the campaign. Included in this group are members of the Phalanx Club, the H-Y, the Y-Teens, the YMCA board of directors, the Jaycees, and representatives in various industrial plants, and service clubs. The United Cigar Store, the B. and E. Smoke Shop, and Texas Lanes also have tickets and residents of Youngsville who wish to help may contact Lyle Schuler. In Sheffield Mary Alice Perche is working on the campaign.

The Y-Teens under the guidance of Mrs. McCutchen Allison have volunteered to provide free baby sitting service March 11 for those parents who wish to go to the benefit show. Mrs. Allison may be contacted at the YWCA.

The canteen committee met last night and made plans to present a radio forum on the project next Sunday over WNAE at 3:15.

COME AND GET IT—Here's how the government's giant "giveaway" program looks to one artist. Faced with huge stocks of dried eggs and dried milk, Congress authorized free distribution of the food to public welfare agencies, the Federal-State School Lunch program, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs, as a means of getting rid of it before it spoils. The eggs and milk, along with a mammoth stock of potatoes, were bought by the government to support farm prices. They represent only a portion of the nearly $4,000,000,000 invested in all "supported" commodities.

THE MARKETS

New York, Feb. 14—(AP)—Heavy demand for selected radio-television issues continued in the stock market today. Blocks of TV stocks running to a top of 28,000 shares were plastered all over the ticker tape. Gains ranged to an extreme of 2½ points or so. Several of last week's TV favorites, however, were clipped slightly by profit taking activity, among them Philco. The rest of the market didn't do much of anything. Gains and losses were well scrambled and few prices moved more than small fractions.

PEACE WITH RUSSIA

In ironic mood the eminent scientist, Albert Einstein, says there may be some doubt how we'll fight the next war but none at all about the one after that. In World War IV, he says the weapons will be rocks.

His wry comment, in the opinion of many editorial writers, accurately mirrors the profound concern felt everywhere by scientists, statesmen and ordinary men over the future peace of the world. Since President Truman's announcement that we're going to build a hydrogen bomb, there's been a rash of proposals aimed at staving off another global conflict.

Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat, advises a $50,000,000,000 world-wide Marshall Plan to include Russia and her satellites. Senator Tydings, Maryland Democrat, calls for a world disarmament parley to "end the world's nightmare of fear."

A number of atomic scientists want the United States to promise to use the projected hydrogen bomb only if first attacked with a similar weapon. The 1500-man Federation of American Scientists proposes that a new, nonpartisan commission wholly divorced from the United Nations re-examine the outlook for control of atomic bombs.

These plans offered by earnest, sober-minded men only serve to intensify the anguish of the world's dilemma at this critical moment. The dilemma is this:

The prospect of the hydrogen bomb has made the specter of war infinitely more terrifying than ever before. All of us believe another war would ruin our civilization and that therefore we must avoid it.

Yet the rush toward this frightening holocaust goes on without check. It does so because the brake that could halt this headlong race is beyond our grasp, a solid genuinely effective peace agreement with Russia. For, if you discount the chance that Germany may rise again, the Soviet Union is the only potential aggressor in sight.

Every single proposal put forth these days in the interest of peace depends in the end on winning an honest accord with Moscow. But all the evidence we have—and new discouragements are piling up almost daily—suggests that Russia is totally untrustworthy.

Desperate voices have been pleading for "just one more try" with the Russians. But, in the bluntest statement to come from our government in many months, Secretary of State Dean Acheson has ruled out any new approach to the Soviet Union on the ground that it would be a useless effort.

There can be no peace with Russia, he said, until this country and the West make themselves so strong that the men in the Kremlin become convinced peace is the wisest course. For strength and force are the only language they understand, and any argument not so supported is without value to the world because the Russians will break it when it suits their political ends.

Acheson has spoken with admirable wisdom and courage. His words should help to set us on a firm course toward the strength that alone can lead toward peace.

FRANCE FALTERS

Cabinet crises, punctuated by the usual parliamentary vote test, are more common in France today than revolutions used to be in Latin America.

Things have got so bad that Premier Bidault keeps his government together with string, bailing wire and threats that another cabinet collapse means an end to western solidarity.

If this goes on much longer, it looks like a new general election will be the only sensible solution. The present instability in French government is a travesty on the democratic process. A sounder political alignment is sorely needed. Frenchmen have got to realize that splinter parties based upon fine theoretical distinctions are a luxury out of place in the hard reality of 1950.

Despite the fact that the recent Guidance Conference at Beaty Junior High School was adjudged by school officials an unqualified success, there were many other parents in the community who could not or did not take the time to attend the session and participate in the discussion groups. On Page 5 of today's Times-Mirror appears a summary of the findings of the several groups and we feel that it is worth any reader's time to sit down quietly and study the recommendations offered by those who did participate. Additional conferences are already in the planning stage and Principal H. D. Harris will welcome suggestions for discussion topics, asking that they be sent to him at Beaty building.

John L. Lewis reluctantly accepts the mandate of the court and directs that the miners go back to work. The diggers, however, refused to return to the pits without a contract. In the meantime the coal piles continue to dwindle all too rapidly.

Here And There

Twenty years ago one of the county's oldest and best known citizens was Billy Hatch, who resided on the old Hatch Homestead along the Hatch Run road. Billy had been a familiar figure in downtown Warren for most of his eighty years at that time, then he invalided indoors for three months. His incapacitation inspired him to write a letter to the editor of the Times-Mirror under date of February 11, 1930, excerpts of which make interesting reading at this time. Among other things he said: "I was looking over the Times-Mirror and see the notice that Frank Russell had passed away. His death set me to thinking of 65 years ago when I passed since our school days, when the Old Academy was where the Woman's Club on Market street now stands. On the opposite side where the Jamieson home is located, three or four buildings from the Tanner House there was the Eddy property and Dr. Parker. There is where our boys had our sports; but three or four of us left now. Warren was only a small place. I can remember the first Democratic paper. My father had had it and it changed hands several times. But few of the old Democrats are left. Many changes I have seen in Warren the last seventy years. Where the Lyric (Sittler House) stands was located Page's blacksmith shop. Later it was changed into a livery barn. Along the avenue were the Kelley Block; there were the wagon shops, Parks and Shearer grist mill; Knapp and Eysinger livery stable; Schwing's restaurant; Keller and Nesmith harness shop, etc. In the lower end of the Exchange Block years ago Lewis Arnett had a dry goods store and there was a foot bridge across to the lower end of the island where Charley Rathburn had a store where he done business. It was possible to run a boat up under the store where liquor and other articles were sold. There was an old bridge across the river at the foot of Hazel street which has been gone a good many years. I remember the excitement that was caused by the arrival of the first P. & E. train in Warren. I can furnish you a record since 1812, when my grandfather came to Warren.

Respectfully,
William Hatch

It is interesting to note that Roy Hatch, a son, with his family, and a brother, Eyrone, still reside on the old homestead. They have a sister, Mrs. May Alcorn, who resides at Mayville, N. Y.

Here's an interesting letter from Homer P. Rogers, Box A, Pendleton, Oregon, which should interest old time residents of the Pittsfield-Garland sections: "Editor Times-Mirror: A news item last summer about a meeting of a small group of former pupils of the Old Pittsfield School interested me to the extent that I wrote a number of former schoolmates and got the addresses of others until I had quite a number of letters from those who are interested in having another meeting this summer. It has been suggested to me that the Community House at Garland be used for the event, and that the Get-Together take place in August. I am very much in favor of that but would like to hear from any one who ever attended the Old School. It will be forty-five years in August since I removed from Pittsfield township, but the letter I have received and the addresses that have been sent to me prove that there is a large number still living who attended that Old School at the same time I did. Will you kindly publish this letter with the request that anyone interested please write to me. August may seem a long time ahead but by the time arrangements are made and former pupils make their plans it will be here. Anyway, I'd like to hear from any of them and will be pleased to send them a picture of the dear old building. I expect to be there in August."

This and That: The meeting of the Warren Chapter of the Shop Quartet Society last evening was held in the Parish Activities building of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, and the Hot Stove League is scheduled to assemble there Wednesday evening. At the present time an energetic membership campaign is under way, in the Barbershop Singing Society, especially to sign up all charter members of the organization, which has been doing so much good in the community since it was formed. We have been receiving complaints, and they came in again yesterday, from south side women regarding the manner in which motorists drive over the Hickory street bridge in wet weather, splashing clothing of pedestrians. In many instances outer garments must be sent to the cleaners before they can be worn again. One indignant woman remarked that "the water splashes across the walks in such manner that the only way you can get away from it would be to jump over the railing." She suggested a regulation similar to one in a town she mentioned where the motorist is compelled to pay cleaning bills when he splashes pedestrians. Area maple syrup production is getting into full swing. The sap isn't waiting for the conventional syrup time and producers have joined the bucket brigade. Up at the Odd Fellows' Temple they're having a lot of fun playing pinochle and darts this winter. Tonight, it is announced, these two games will be played, following the weekly meeting of the lodge and it is a foregone conclusion there will be a large crowd on hand. February at the half way mark and income tax deadline but one month away.

Donkey Teeth Took Big Bite Out of GOP Elephant's Hide

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Republican Party inserted blind ads in Washington newspapers to draw crowds for its $1 box-lunch supper at the capital's Uline arena. The affair was called a "Lincoln Day box supper," although it was held on Feb. 6. The ad said everybody would be welcome. It said Fred Waring's orchestra would be there along with two masters of ceremonies, plus round and square dancing. It told where tickets could be bought, but it didn't mention that the GOP had anything to do with it.

This moved Rep. Andy Biemiller (D, Wis.), to make a speech on the floor of the House:

MR. BIEMILLER: "What, oh, what has become of the trumpeting elephant that was once the Republican Party? An ad for a Lincoln Day Dinner without mention of the Grand Old Party. I have not felt so old since Shirley Temple had a baby."

"Could it be that the Republicans have suddenly grown self-conscious of the deep rift between the philosophy of Lincoln and the moribund policies they pursue in narrowing circles? Could this be a new and modest humility? I doubt it."

"Blazon everybody welcome in your ads and hope that entertainment will do what Republican policies have not been able to do—win a large and appreciative audience."

"While I applaud the wisdom of this ad and the growing timidity of the minority party, I shed a single tear of farewell."

"Gone is my youth when a wild elephant trumpeted through these halls to rescue Pauline from the perils of welfare legislation. In its place sits a timorous."

But the Republicans really had the last laugh. On the same night that the Republicans had their dollar box-lunch party in Washington's Uline arena, 2000 Democrats turned out for a swell reception in honor of Vice President Alben Barkley and bride. It was an affair so bon ton that one of the Washington society editors asked somewhat rhetorically, "Are there really any Republicans left?" The answer was that there were 13,000 of them out at the GOP box-lunch supper, at that very moment, with 3000 more to be turned away later. In other words, they outnumbered the Democratic crowd eight to one, at competing rallies.

CONGRESS, in the month of January, didn't enact a single law. This despite the fact that the Senate was in session 19 days for 94 hours. The House was in session 17 days for 54 hours, and the debate filled 1280 pages of the Congressional Record. Though 243 new measures were introduced in the Senate and 672 in the House, the Senate passed only three bills and the House one.

Department of Agriculture research men have invented a new snack food. It's called "rice curls." It's made by mixing ground rice with water to form a paste. The paste is forced through a small round opening, forming curls about three inches long. These are fried in vegetable oil and salted. Eat like potato chips.

American Farm Bureau Federation has passed a resolution calling for greater government economy. It proposes cutting national defense by $1,000,000,000, veterans' benefits by $500,000,000, home mortgage purchase by $340,000,000 and other items by $2,000,000,000. For themselves, A. F. B. F. generously proposed that Department of Agriculture appropriations be cut by $25,000,000.

To promote the dollar earnings of foreign countries, Department of Commerce made a directory of items which were available for export to the United States. The U. S. commercial attaché at Mozambique reported that Portuguese East Africa could offer for sale live elephants, lions and rhinoceroses.

Actions and Recommendations Resulting From Guidance Meet

Many persons who attended the guidance conference held at Beatty Junior High School have asked that a summary be made of the actions and recommendations of the various groups.		Based on the written reports of recorders named for each discussion group, some of these findings are:
1. In answer to the question "Do teenagers have too many activities?" it was the opinion of the group that the problem is not so much the number of activities as it is the wise selection of the		activities in which to participate.
2. After discussing clubs and whether they should meet during the regular school day or after school, these recommendations were made:		(a) Information should be made available to parents concerning the club offerings either through the newspaper or through pamphlets so that parents and pupils might discuss the subject at home.
(b) A poll to be taken of out-of-town pupils to determine their interest in the existing club program and possible suggestions for new clubs.		3. It was agreed that community parties are desirable, that more parents act as supervisors of the parties that pupils should be encouraged to solicit parents to be chaperones, and that some financial contributions should be made by participants.
4. Activities considered most worthwhile are community parties, church-centered activities, outdoor activities in which children are participants, rather than spectators, and home-centered activities in which parents and children take a part.		5. In order to improve the reading, writing and spelling it was suggested that there be more emphasis on drill, repetition, spelling "bees", sentence diagramming and grammar.
6. School should be a preparation for work and life, not entertainment.		7. While recognition was given to the value of such courses as health, band, gymnasium, etc., a strong current held for the practical courses with an obvious utilitarian value—the "3 R's", economics, public speaking.
8. The opinion was that when a child has six hours in school he should do his work there, thus saving away with much of the homework. It was suggested that there is too much oral work and not enough written work in school.		9. Parents would like to have children bring more papers home so they could see what was being done. They also would like to know when standardized tests are being given and what is the purpose of them. Many expressed a desire to discuss this.
10. There was almost a unanimous agreement that home discipline is too lenient, that schools are not strict enough, and that children have too little responsibility for their actions and conduct.		11. While praising the school program for the fine meals served, there was a feeling that children eat too fast, having but 25 minutes for lunch period. However, it was pointed out that if pupils went home and back at noon they would not have much more time in which to eat.
12. If there is to be any education along the line of sex and social hygiene it will have to be done in schools, since few parents give any such instruction.		13. Many parents felt that they were the ones who should have some instruction in how to teach hygiene to their children.
14. The teaching of courtesy and manners is the responsibility of the home, with the school taking some part to aid. Most parents admitted they were lax in such instruction but resolved to do better even if it meant staying at home in the evening several times a week.		15. There must be education of the heart as well as education of the mind. By education of the heart is meant a knowledge of God. The more children's fingerprints you see in a home the fewer you will see on police records.
16. Children travel together in social groups. Sometimes parents try to persuade their children not to go to certain places but are met with "Sue can go. Why can't I?" There was a feeling that if parents banded together to work out some sort of schedule for their children's activities there would be greater satisfaction all around. How often can we say "NO" without seeming "mean?"		17. It was recommended that at least four such meetings be held each year.
If there are problems or questions which parents would like to have taken up at the next meeting they should be sent to the Beatty Junior High School. It is hoped that there will be a more representative group when the next conference is held.		WILLOW CREEK

It was decided for all future meetings of the group that members notify the hostess if they are planning to attend. During the discussion on "The Problem of Obedience" it was stressed that the goal of all discipline is self-discipline, and that parents should keep in mind the following guiding principles: Keep rules to a minimum; don't require too much of your child; give advance notice of impending orders; don't interfere when either parent is handling a matter of discipline; don't give permission to do something the other parent has refused; and lastly, be firm and consistent.

Don't Let Family Life Get Into a Tiresome Rut

A LOT of housewives are so taken up with their own boredom they never stop to wonder whether or not Papa and the children may be bored with home life, too.

Yet, it's a safe bet that if Mama finds the job of home-making boring, family life is in such a rut it is boring for every member of the family. So if you're bored with your own life, try this for an eye-opener. Sit down and figure out if the whole routine of your home life isn't dull and uninspired.

You may find that there's not only a good reason for your boredom but plenty of reason for the whole family to find home a rather uninspiring place.

Is meal-planning just a matter of getting enough food on the table three times a day to keep your family fed? If it is, then get yourself a new cookbook and give your family some surprise eating. Also have spur-of-the-moment dinner guests occasionally—guests the whole family can enjoy.

Do most of your evenings follow the same old pattern? Papa reading his paper, your pattering around at odd jobs, and the kids bickering and quarreling until it is mercifully their bedtime?

INTRODUCE SOME COMPANIONSHIP

THEN introduce some family entertainment. There are plenty of games a family can play together that are not only fun but make parents and children companions instead of the antagonists they turn out to be when the kids are worrying the parents in order to get a little attention and the parents are trying to keep the kids quiet in order to have a little peace.

Is your social life limited to a few couples you know so well the only real satisfaction you get out of being with them is in discussing their faults, mistakes, and peculiarities after they have gone? Then make an effort to keep seeing new people who can give you some fresh ideas and to whom your opinions and ideas will also be new and stimulating.

Is there little laughter in your house? If so, quit taking life so seriously. Every day has its funny moments. Look at them and laugh—and you'll have your whole family laughing with you. No family is bored when they are sharing a good joke.

Youngville Plans Platform Unit At Camp Birdsall Edey

Youngville, Feb. 14—A group from Youngville has offered to take care of the erection of platform for another tent unit at the Girl Scout Camp, Birdsall Edey. It is possible that some of the platforms can be moved to a new location. The camp was a very popular place last summer and some plans for improvements are being considered.

A fine dinner meeting was held Friday evening, when the Youngville Chapter of the Eastern Star observed Matron-Patron Night, honoring Mrs. Mable Chapman, worthy matron, and Carl Anderson, worthy patron. Members and their escorts were seated at tables, for the bountiful tureen dinner. The tables were very attractively decorated. The Valentine season suggested the motif of decoration, in the form of white plastic foam hearts, appearing like marble statues, on a red background with decorations in color. At each place was a Valentine as a favor. The toastmaster was Mrs. C. E. Stillings. Past matrons of the order greeted the guests. Responses were given by Edward Day, a guest, and Phyllis Hendrickson. A pleasing feature of the program was the singing of songs of various periods dedicated to "Our Sweethearts". Mrs. John Carr led in the song-fest with Mrs. Ralph Taylor, at the piano. Members of the committee, responsible for the pleasant evening were Hazel Stillings, chairman; Flora McDowell, co-chairman; Phyllis Hendrickson, Ruth Hendon, Theresa Crull, Evelyn Crull, Vivian Sweetland, and Florence Follen.

The following members of the local American Legion Auxiliary attended the Inter-county Council of the American Legion Auxiliary held at Johnsonburg: Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mrs. Frank Bauer, Mrs. Florence Mouser, Mrs. Frances McAllister, Mrs. Helen Tellman. Those attending reported the meeting as very interesting, particularly the talk by Mrs. McKay, state membership chairman. She told of the work accomplished in the state by the Auxiliary in regard to hospitals for service men and their influence in some of the public movements for the betterment of the state.

Race Relations Day was observed Sunday at the Methodist church. Rev. and Mrs. Coleman, their two daughters and Mrs. Coleman's brother were present from Tusculum, where Rev. Coleman is pastor of the African Methodist church. Mrs. Coleman spoke to the adult classes at the Sunday school hour, giving an impressive address and a number of appropriate readings, bringing out the thought of service for others rather than for self. The morning service, at 11 a. m., was conducted by Rev. Mr. Coleman. Much of this service was in song and a generous collection was given to the work of the Colemans in the Tusculum Mission.

Cards just received tell of the arrival in Orlando, Fla., of Mrs. Margie Finlan and brother, Mike Mariner. Mrs. Finlan writes: "We are both feeling fine and have a nice apartment at 3000 Kuhl Avenue, Orlando, Fla."

EXAMINATIONS HELD

Promotional examinations for advancement in the state police are being held throughout the Commonwealth this week. Sgt. James Vaughn, of the Warren station, was in Butler last evening to join with other sergeants and lieutenants in a test. Corporals and sergeants of Troop E, which comprise Warren, Erie, Venango and Crawford counties, will take their examinations in Erie tomorrow evening. On Friday evening, privates of Troop E will be given their tests.

Panthers Nose Out Legion Five 30 to 27 In First Game for the League Championship

After trailing all the way, the Panthers team nosed out the Legion five, 30-27, in the first game of the "Y" Junior League Championship.

The Legionnaires took an early lead of 9-2 at the end of the first quarter and matched scoring in the second quarter with the Panthers each team notched up nine points each, making it 18-11, Legion.

The tide really began to turn in the third quarter, as the Panthers drove ahead to outscore the Legion team 8-2.

Going into the final quarter with the score 20-19, Legion, many Anderson did all the scoring in the first minute as he hit two field goals and a free throw.

Then scoring halted for two minutes, and the officials called time out.

Bill Hartweg and Chuck Irvine connected with twin points to knock the Legion's lead to two points at the minute mark.

Again there was no scoring in the next minute until Bill Hartweg tossed in a free throw to make it 25-24.

A rebound by Bob Reese put the Panthers ahead, 28-25, with 45 seconds remaining, but Odomark watched it to make it 27-26, Legion.

Only 20 seconds left in the game, Bill Hartweg made good his foul shot to tie things up and his twin brother Louie followed him up with a two-pointer, giving the Panthers a two point lead with 10 seconds left.

There was still time for the Legion team to score, but all hope ended as Beckenbach was fouled, to make the final scoring and end the game 30-27 in favor of the Panthers.

Bud Andersen was high scorer of the game with 10 points for the Legion, while Bill Hartweg accounted for nine for the victors.

The next play-off game is slated for next Monday at the "Y" at 8 o'clock.

Three-Minute Rule Proving Unpopular

Harrisburg, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Basketball's controversial "three minute foul rule" is almost certain to be tossed out by Pennsylvania high schools next year.

"It's a bad rule and has been unpopular all over the state," said Edmund Wicht, executive director of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Wicht said, however, that the disputed regulation would be used in next month's PIAA playoffs for the state championship.

"It's too late in the season to change," he commented.

The rule, which became effective this season, gives a free throw and possession of the ball out of bounds to the team whose player is fouled during the last three minutes of a game.

The prime object of the new rule was to cut down on the number of fouls in the dying moments of the game. However, many coaches maintain it guarantees a victory for the leading team going into the last three minutes.

A survey of 100 of the state's leading scholastic coaches showed the cage mentors to be against the ruling by a two to one margin.

District Seven (WPAL) coaches asked that the rule be eliminated at the final 1949 PIAA board of control meeting. Action on the proposal was postponed until the board's next meeting on April 1, date of the Class A state championship tilt.

Opposition to a similar two-minute rule also has been heavy in collegiate ranks with many teams having a "gentlemen's agreement" not to use it when they meet.

Smith and Lawton Atlantic Tie For Third Place With Rockets

Smith and Lawton Atlantic moved up into a tie for third place with the Rockets by beating the Rocktown Ramblers, 51-47, in the City League last night.

A second contest gave the Style Shop a record of four wins against the Rockets as they picked off G. Greenes by a 66-44 score.

The Atlantic, paced by Vin Gray with 19 points, took an early lead in the first quarter over the Ramblers, but the Hooktowners came back in the second section to make it 23-22, Atlantic, at half time.

Again in the third period the Atlantic five out-pointed their opponent, although their lead was cut to one point several times.

The Ramblers dropped behind in the early part of the final quarter, but blazed away in the last minutes to out-score the Atlantic team 17-13. But unable to overcome the lead, they lost 61-47.

Greenes led the Style Shop 8-7 at the end of the initial quarter and dropped behind three points at intermission.

Opening the second half, however, the Style Shop quickly edged up as they moved out of any danger by scoring 19 points to Greenes eight in the third section and 26 to 18 in the final.

Sig Decker took scoring honors for the evening, hitting a blistering trail of 20 points. Other high men in the game were Rickie Scallies and Louie Check, who blasted away from the back court for Greenes, to rack up 17 and 15 units respectively.

Chapter 6

It was June and very warm after a late spring, but Anne didn't mind even the sudden summer heat and sang happily to herself as she worked.

Anne was as happy as only a good person and a busy person can be. She liked the warm air blowing through the old house. She knew it brought in dust from the street, but she was quite willing to clean up dust if she could have the splendid sense of freedom and full living that open windows gave.

Technically she was not supposed to clean at all, but Mary had plenty to do in the kitchen getting three meals a day. Mary, for all her mumbly and pan-banging, was the kind of faithful work horse who would never take it easy. To Anne her duty was to go. Mary was, in a way, taking care of them. They loved the back yard, which almost resembled a garden now it was June. There were leaves on one of the bushes, even some roses on the bush that Tony had planted that one Sunday he had come to the house. Since Sir Tony had planted it and told them not to touch it, the twins hadn't pulled a single leaf or flower. Since that Sunday he hadn't been in to see her. A couple of telephone calls had been merely brief, hurried explanations about how busy he was.

A CHATTER coming up the stairs preceded by clattering voices made her realize the twins had decided to claim her. They rushed in, shouting, "Mailman, Mailman," and each waved a letter at her, wanting to be first. She carefully took both at the same time and repressed the little sinking feeling in her heart when she saw neither was from Tony. But something must have reached the twins, because they asked in unison: "Why doesn't Sir Tony come to see us any more?"

She patted their heads. "If he forgets us we'll forget him."

Rob sighed. "He told us he wouldn't come if we hurt the rose bush, but we haven't hurt a single leaf."

"I know. You have been very good boys."

She kissed them both. "We'll read our letters together. We'll sit in Grandfather's big chair here by the window. Now this is fine."

She settled them on her lap. "We have letters from Mother and Aunt Adele. Which shall we read first?"

"Aunt Adele doesn't like us."

"Of course she does. We'll open it first and see. Why, she loves us. She wants us to come up to her big house in the country and stay over the week-end. Now what do you say to that?"

They said it together without any hesitation. "We don't want to go. We want to stay here."

"Why, of all things!" She made big laughing eyes at them. "Of course we want to go to the country. Aunt Adele and Uncle David have a grand big house with beautiful lawns and a garden with a fountain in it. And there are goldfish in the fountain."

"Aunt Adele doesn't like us."

"You mustn't say that. We must think carefully. Would Aunt Adele go to all the trouble to write us and ask us and prepare meals and beds for us if she didn't like us?"

Their chubby faces wore frowns of concentration as they considered that carefully. Then Rob spoke seriously.

"Uncle David made her ask us. He likes us."

"Roy was not to be outdone. 'Aunt Adele has to do everything. Uncle David tells her to do. And we don't like him.'"

"Now how can you say that?" she chided them gently. "You must have forgotten the day we went to his office. Didn't you eat ice cream till both of you were almost sick?"

"They nodded slowly. "It was very good ice cream," they agreed.

"Of course it was. Everything Aunt Adele and Uncle David have is very good. Remember he gave you each a big silver dollar. And

GOOD DEFENSIVE PLAY GIVES MORE POINTS
BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
The other night I was talking to Jules Tilles, who operates the Paradise Bridge Studio in the Bronx in New York, and he explained to me the method used in selecting their club champion each year.
They run a weekly duplicate every Thursday night. The winners for the evening receive five points each, second place three points and third place one point. (If there is a tie the tying positions share the points.) These points are posted up the club so that all the members can see from time to time how the championship is going.
Duplicate club directors throughout the country will soon recognize the fact that this method will keep the players coming back each week, because the more games they play in, the more points they can win.
Dr. Kailman Apfel of New York City won the championship in 1946 and 1949 and was second in 1948. Here is a defensive play that helped him win top score one evening.
His opponents were using the weak two-bid therefore when South opened the bidding with two hearts it was not a forcing bid.
Dr. Apfel sitting East won his

Pre-Lenten Dance Saturday Night At Irvinedale School

The next event in the Irvinedale's PTA's school library benefit series will be a pre-Lenten dance on Saturday night. There will be both square and round dancing from nine o'clock until midnight, with Herbert Stover calling and taking care of the music. The finance committee has announced that refreshments will also be on sale at the school.

Through the previous benefits this year, 46 books were added in the first order and 74 in the second. They were ordered and prepared for circulation by Mrs. Gerry Archibald, formerly head of the children's department of the Warren Public Library and also at that time in charge of service to the elementary schools. Mrs. Archibald was assisted by some of the eighth grade girls at Irvinedale in some of the preparation. The books in the first two orders have all been graded and placed in the rooms for the use of the boys and girls.

All of the books now in the collection, along with those now on order, will be placed on display at the Family Night Tureen during the month of March.

The finance committee wishes to express its appreciation for the cooperation it has had and asks for continued response so it will be able to have a really impressive display for parents and children in March.

In the meantime the pupils at Irvinedale are having a wonderful time with the books already in the collection.

CHAPTER MEMBERS

Two Warren students, Charles Carlson and Thomas Offerle, were among Edinboro State Teachers College students who met the requirements for admission and were initiated Saturday afternoon in Alpha Chi chapter, Beta Beta Beta, national biological honor fraternity. The new chapter was instituted with 20 student members and three sponsors. Dr. E. Duane Sayles, vice president of the first district and professor of biology at Thiel College in Greenville, conducted the installation ceremony, after which the chapter members held a banquet in the college dining room.

Scouts Making Plans For Merit Badge Exposition During Week

Boy Scouts of the Warren Boy Scout Council have been working for some time preparing their exhibits for the Merit Badge Exposition to take place this Friday and Saturday in the Warren Armory from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

The Scouts will exhibit as much as possible of the different requirements in the different merit badges they have chosen. As an example the Scouts of The First Presbyterian church Troop 8 will display the requirements of the Pioneering merit badge. This badge includes much of the work with ropes: the different kind of rope splicing, lashings, and rope bridges.

The Scouts of Troop 8 will not have room to make a regular rope bridge but will probably have

Everyone enjoys the lightweight sleeping comfort of an Electric Bed Cover

There's only one cover on her bed! A lightweight electric cover that she can dial to the exact temperature she wants. Thermostats hold that even temperature 'til she snaps it off in the morning.

It's out-and-out economy to buy electric bed coverings. There's only one to buy -- to make up in the morning -- to clean -- to store. It takes the place of two or three blankets -- costs less than they would and operates for about one penny a night.

The whole family will enjoy the wonderful comfort of electric bed coverings. And remember, you only buy one for each bed.

You'll find electric blankets, comforters and sheets, in twin and double bed sizes, with single or twin controls, at electric appliance dealers and department stores.
